Student Takeaways:

Communication skills are not just essential for a stable work-life but are crucial for every aspect of social living. This is because companies are now looking for visionaries and individuals who can open up newer avenues of networking, but a visionary also has to be able to express his ideas and articulately communicate his vision to his superiors and his team. The most important skill in today's hard-nosed corporate world – time management is actually the skill which can make a world of difference between you and the next guy. A good leader is also a good team player.

KC Meghansa I Sem. MBA

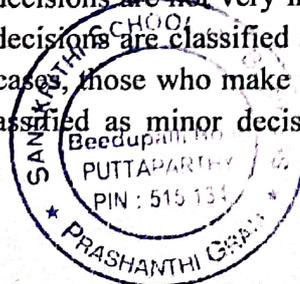

Speak less, work more is a phrase, but in realistic terms of Business, communication is the key. Pitching for business deals to negotiating on right compensation, communication skills are of utmost importance for an MBA graduate. Being able to adapt to the ever-changing and evolving environment is very important. An MBA graduate needs to know how they can accommodate the sudden change in the work structure.

SreekanyaB, MBA III Semester

Critical thinking is very much needed of an MBA graduate to critically analyze after precise observation of the business environment. Instincts work fine, but critical thinking is of enormous importance to derive the right analysis of moving forward in the ladder of taking your business forward. Meanwhile, along with conflict resolution, problem-solving abilities needed to be exhibited if in case there is an occurrence of any snag. A lateral thinker is of colossal importance to many firms in meeting the highly unpredictable demands. They will be able to arrive at a problem-solving conclusion

Kantha Raju , MBA III Semester

Decision-making skills are essential in most jobs. Most leaders and managers have to make crucial decisions every day. Decisions can be classified in different ways. Some decisions can be called routine decisions. These are decisions that do not involve a lot of thought. Most of these decisions are not very important anymore. They really should be made quickly. A few other decisions are classified as significant decisions. These are very important decisions. In some cases, those who make these decisions can make a lot of money. Other vital decisions are classified as minor decisions. These are decisions that involve a little money. These decisions are to be made effectively, and that too with the right set of innovation. Regular doesn't work all the time, and given the times out of the box thinking is of predominant importance to make things happen at the workspace. Innovative thinking and decision making should go hand in hand for an MBA graduate.
